HISTORICAL BACKGROUND OF KANJARGA (DESCRIPTION)

Kanjarga is one of the silent old villages in Ghana. Located in the North- Eastern part of the Upper East Region of Ghana with a population of about twenty- four thousand, five hundred (24,500) people. 65% as youth, the village Kanjarga.....

The people here are predominantly farmers. The farming also depends only on rain fed and here we get the rains only May to August. Hence the people have only one farming season. If rain is not sufficient enough for that season, then that will add to their already existing woes. The people farm only around their houses. And the grains (millet, sorghum and maize) that they gather preserve for their family food for the entire year. Because the farming is not satisfactory, there is always poverty and illness. The climate is tropical, but with extensive dry season from the Sahara desert between January and March. The rains come in June and August. 75% of children of this village and the neighbouring villages go to schools within the radius of three kilometres. 40% of the people in this village and the neighbouring villages are Christians, 10% Muslims and the rest are traditionalists.

The majority of people who are youth are also unemployed because they are either not educated or skilled to a high level or not educated at all, hence very ignorant of self-employment. Coupled with the one farming season, the income level of these villagers is very limited, if not impossible. The youth therefore indulge themselves in all sorts of social vices such as Alcoholism, Drug Addiction, Minor Prostitution, Pilfering, to mention but a few.
